20th edition, 1851.

...more than just a book

STARPATH®

Please send one CD of the above e-book, which we will install onto computers in our library so that patrons can read and study the book in the library. I understand that this e-book can only be read on the computer using Acrobat Reader 5.0 or newer and that the book itself will prohibit any printing or copying. It cannot be checked out because it must be registered in order to run on any computer. It is fully searchable by word or phrase. The serial number included with the CD will allow it to be installed on up to three (3) computers owned by the library, unless otherwise arranged. If there are any questions about this donation, please contact David Burch, Ph.D., Director of Starpath School of Navigation, at 206-783-1414.

Complete details about the format and registration process for Starpath Elibra products can be seen at www.starpath.com/elibra.

The book itself is for sale to the public (for $39.95) at www.starpath.com/catalog/books/1711.htm

Answer to a reasonable question: Why do you do this?

(1) We have had more than 20,000 classroom students over the past 24 years, plus thousands more of home-study students. This library donation program is one small way we can express our gratitude to them by making this contribution to the maritime community as a whole.

(2) We would hope that some readers might want to buy a copy of their own once they learn that it exists, and how easy it is to use, and how relatively inexpensive it is to own one.

We will then contact you to confirm the request and ship at no charge to the library. The registration process is fully automated for any computer online at the time, but we are happy to carry out the registration in person over the telephone if that is preferred.
